

1 AEC, 25 West 7th St.
Katie Rentzke, phone: 859 292 2322
email: krentzke@covingtonky.gov

The AEC is Covington's Urban Arts Center, housing gallery, conference and educational facilities. The 2011 schedule of exhibitions will feature shows curated by the AEC's Curatorial Jury Committee.

Feature: 'A New Reality' is curated by Mary Heider and showcases selected work by local sculptors Robert Fry, Jennifer Grote and Michael Scheurer. These artists take items saved, donated or salvaged and form new artistic realities. That artists can take disparate parts and create uplifting works, offers hope for those whose lives are in state of forced reassembly as a consequence of the current economic changes. 6:00pm to 10:00pm.

2 Chez Nora, 530 Main St.
Lori Martin, phone: 859 491 8027
email: lori@cheznora.com

Located in Historic MainStrasse Village, this popular lunch and dinner spot blends old world charm and contemporary architecture into a multi-storied, multi purpose destination. A Rooftop Terrace Bar and Jazz Club offers live music five nights a week and spectacular views of downtown Cincinnati and the scenic Ohio River.

Feature: Jazz artists "The Dukes" on the third floor Jazz club. 8:30pm to 11:30pm.

3 Community Action Gallery, 717 Madison Ave.
Arlene Gibeau, phone: 859 491 2584 email: Lilac1221@aol.com

The Community Action Gallery is a partner with all of creation and speaks to the higher purpose of humankind.

Feature: "Christmas Presence", artwork by Jane Bresser, Sally Ann Murray and Larry Watson. 5:00pm to 8:00pm.

4 Covington Clay, 16 West Pike St.
Rick Hoffman, phone: 859 491 3900
email: Rick@CovingtonClay.com

Located in a historic 1860's building, Covington Clay is a pottery studio and gallery that also offers classes and workshops in an inspiring atmosphere.

Feature: A reception celebrating the installation of 522 tiles made by members of the community and installed at the front door of Covington Clay. The studio and gallery will also be showcasing work from local ceramists. 6:00pm to 10:00pm.

5 Keystone Grill, 313 Greenup St.
Emily Hoyt, phone: 859 261 6777
email: emily@keystonebar.com

Keystone Grill is a local restaurant and bar that perpetually supports the arts by hosting local artists to adorn its walls with original artwork.

Feature: Beth Hoyt, photographer, showcases images of local landmarks including several unique views of Covington's Roebling Suspension Bridge. Keystone also offers a 15% discount on all food for any Gallery Hopper that visits.

6 Julie's Inspiration, 608 Main St.
Julie Boone, phone: 859 291 8200
email: juliesinspiration@fuse.net

Since 2005, Julie's Inspiration has been Northern KY's premier consignment shop, featuring an eclectic mix of today's fashions and vintage apparel and accessories for men and women, as well as jewelry, collectibles, furniture, antiques and artwork by local artists.

Feature: Vicki Dierieg, is a Northern KY native, a mother, a laborer in the field of women and children's services, a Certified Lactation Counselor, volunteer and peace activist. In between all these things she has been a "sometimes artist" working in fabrics, calligraphy, watercolors, acrylic and latex paints. "The Scent of Summer in the Midst of Winter" is a collection of botanicals in pastel chalks. Light refreshments will be served. 6:00 to 10:00.

7 Step-N-Out Dance Studio, 721 Madison Ave.
Doreen Beatrice, phone: 859 291 2300
email: doreen@stepnoutstudio.com

Step-N-Out is an independently owned dance studio located in historic Covington. They specialize in Dancesport, Latin, Tango, West Cost, Lindy Hop, Salsa, Ballroom, First Wedding Dance and more.

Feature: This is a monthly dance sponsored by Step-N-Out and it's teachers. The Cover Charge is $5 per student. A Group Lesson is available from 8:00 to 8:30 pm. A DJ'ed dance to ballroom dance music begins at 8:30pm and lasts to 10pm.

8 Nordheim Gallery, 2500 Madison Ave.
Trisha Brundage, phone: 859 392 3161
email: trisha.brundage@covington.kyschools.us

Located on the beautiful and well maintained campus of historic Holmes High School, it is operated by Covington Independent Public Schools for students' Fine Arts enrichment and as an outreach to the community. The Nordheim Gallery presents new exhibits of work each month by visiting artists. It is open tonight, for campus special events and by appointment.

Feature: "Picturing a Health Girl" is a thought provoking exhibit of photographs taken by teen aged girls and their mothers. The photos reflect their views on what it means to be a hãealthy girl and what they see as barriers and supports to girls' health. The project was sponsored by Harmony Garden.

